Rat Trap A modern card sword

Rich Marotta's Rat Trap. A modern-day Card Sword!

A card is selected and lost in the deck. Bring out a rat trap. Toss the cards in the air. Thrust the rat trap into the cascading cards. The selected card is captured in the trap!

It looks great. A real audience-pleaser. Comes complete with the very special rat trap, gimmick and DVD instructions. You are going to love this one! The Rat Trap is precision-made by Wellington Magic.

Electric Dove

The Electric Dove is a great stage prop that appears to be the real thing!

If you want to give the illusion of using a dove in your show, then this is for you. It will actually fly around the room, like a real bird!

Runs on batteries.

Troublewit

Audiences love Troublewit. It dates back to the early 1700's in France and soon caught on in England. Some have found references to it in the 1600's in Spain. Milbourne Christopher lists it as one of the 100 most important "tricks" to learn along with Cups and Balls and Linking Rings. What is Troublewit? Glad you asked! It is a large piece of multi-colored paper folded into various shapes and designs to amuse audiences young, old and in-between.

Take a look at the photo of Bill Ragsdale with three of the many designs possible with Troublewit. He is showing a vase on the right, a party hat on his head (one of many hat designs), and an hourglass on the left.

Long unavailable, you can now own your own Troublewit, and add something different to your stand up or stage performances.

Bill Ragsdale hand folds each Troublewit from a 26" X 40" piece of nearly indestructible paper.

The Comeback Spider

Based on a Trevor Lewis effect. It's the Homing Card effect for your Halloween shows! Also great all through the year!

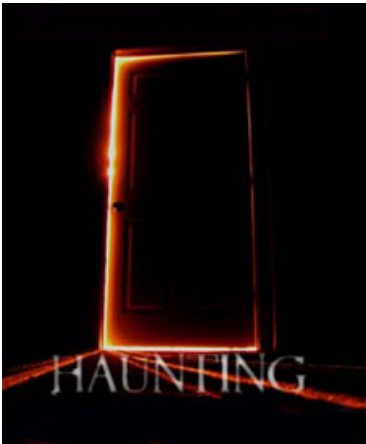

Display the backs of five cards, each with a picture of a spider web. Explain that there are no spiders on the webs, because if there's one thing you hate, it's spiders!

Turn the cards around and tell the kids you have pictures of five different Jack-o-Lanterns. As you spread the cards, the kids see a big furry spider and are quick to let you know. Finally, you see the spider, act startled and put the spider aside.

Spread the cards again showing four Jack-o-Lanterns. Tell the children one of the Jack-o-Lanterns will disappear when you say "Happy" and they shout "Halloween!"

Once again, a spider appears! This happens three more times until the kids are in a frenzy. You finally pick up all the cards and turn around to put them away. Now, there's a spider hanging on your back! The kids go wild!

Cards measure 5 1/2" by 4 1/4". Printed on quality stock with a beautiful protective finish. Full permission given by Trevor Lewis for his handling. A guaranteed hit for your Halloween shows! $35.00 (50.973)

Haunting

From Taylor Imagineering comes Tony Chris' Haunting, the most amazing version of the Haunted Pack we have ever seen!

A selected card is signed and returned to the deck.

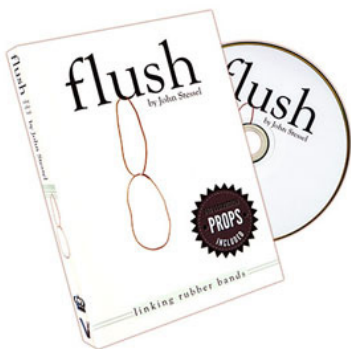

Place the cards on the ground and now the impossible happens.

On your command, the deck slowly, visibly and very eerily begins to move and separate. The deck moves in the most haunting manner until you command it to stop, whenever you desire. The card where the deck has separated is removed and revealed to be the spectator's chosen card.!

- The world's first remote controlled Haunted Deck.
- Recharges from your computer
- You control the deck animation at all times from up to 30 feet away!
- Perfect for restaurant, corporate and street performers.
- Instantly resets. • No angle limitations.
- Visually stunning. • A reputation maker. • Hauntingly perfect.

$199.95 (30.1601)*

Simple. Elegant. Impossible. You lightly hold two rubber bands at your fingertips. Touch them together. They link. Blow on them. They unlink. Both bands can be examined. The problem with most rubber band tricks is that they require the magician to fiddle-to contort and stretch and loop the bands between each other and between the fingers. Well, the audience sees this. That's a bad thing. With Flush, there's no fiddling. Two rubber bands are displayed, loosely held in the hands. They are gently tossed toward each other, and link instantly. It's that clean. What's more, it's easy to do and easy to learn.

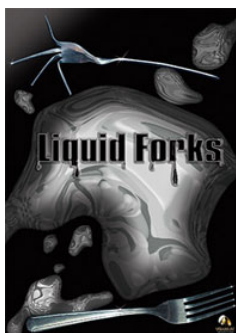

Flush is a new method that opens up many avenues for linking rubber bands. Includes DVD instruction, plus all props to add this trick to your repertoire. $14.95 (10.1656)*

Look Sharp

Wayne Goodman's Look Sharp concept is simple, but extremely ingenious. Imagine being able to turn a Sharpie Marker (something we all use) into a chosen playing card, even in your spectator's own hands. Now, that's a revelation!

The Look Sharp gimmick contains two revelations. One is the full card revelation and the other a very sneaky revelation built into the design. Look Sharp can be performed as a standalone piece or part of a longer routine. It makes a perfect ending for a multiple card selection routine. It can even be performed with a signed card! Ideal for any performing situation Comes complete with two custom printed Look Sharp cards, a pdf file to make your own Look Sharp cards and an instructional DVD covering complete routines, bonus tips and handlings. $25.75 (30.1607)

Voodoo Doll Prediction

A spectator is selected to play the part of a Voodoo priest. "Someone in this audience is going to experience unimaginable pain as a result of this gentleman's action!" you explain.

A cloth Voodoo doll is displayed, an effigy representing some unknown person in the room.

"Please take these pins and, at your discretion, insert them into the doll, any where you like. You can use all five pins or one or two, it is completely up to you. Your choice will determine the amount of pain and agony the victim will experience."

Once the spectator has completed his task, a scream is heard and a person shakes violently as a result of the Voodoo curse.

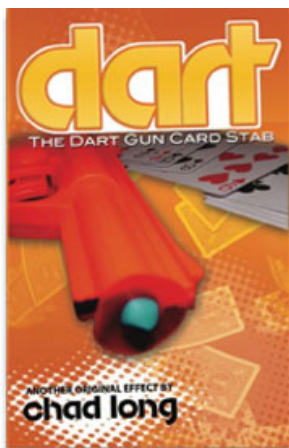

A plaque, which had been shown earlier, encased in a black vinyl sleeve, is revealed. To the surprise of all, the exact locations chosen by the 'Voodoo priest' are marked on the figure, silk-screened on the plaque!

The instructions were written by George Robinson Jr. and lead the audience down a path that suddenly takes a turn. The tension of the spooky and bizarre rite is suddenly broken by the comical reactions of the performer, culminating in a mysterious and baffling prediction.

Instant reset; no stoges; no force of any kind; nothing is written down, etc. The spectator has complete control over how many pins he or she uses and complete control over where he chooses to insert the pins. The outcome is always 100% correct.

Comes complete with detailed instructions, handcrafted Voodoo Doll, pins, custom silk-screened plaque and vinyl sleeve.

Great for walk around. Will work well for most situations due to the size of the props. Great props, all hand made. $45.00 (40.797)*

Chad Long has been fooling people with this visual card stab for 25 years!

A card is selected, signed and lost in the deck. A toy dart gun is introduced and the cards are sprung in the air.

Pick up the gun and fire, nailing one card - the signed selection!

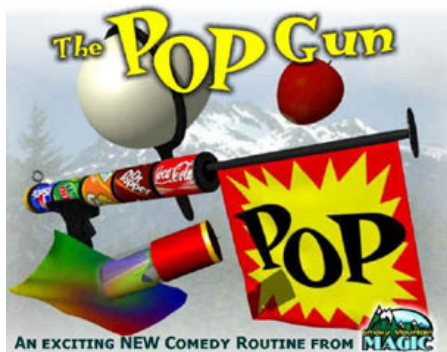

Lots of fun!

Cool revelation!

Super visual!

Everything you need is included: toy dart gun, darts, length of yarn, adhesive putty & full-color instructions with photographs.

$25.00 (30.1610)

A stage-filling effect that your audiences are going to love! Two volunteers assist you in re-creating the story of William Tell. An apple (wooden) is examined and a tie-dyed silk handkerchief is marked for further identification. The apple is wrapped in a paper napkin, while the marked silk is loaded into a clear "shotgun shell" and inserted into the rear of the Pop Gun, a homemade affair apparently

(but not really) created from pop cans, tape and spare parts.

To help the audience follow the silk's invisible flight across the stage, you blow up a balloon and isolate it in a round holder, a bit like a tennis racket with no strings.

The apple is placed on top of one helper's head while the other levels the Pop Gun at the balloon. The trigger is pulled...

POP! A banner pops out the end of the gun! POP! The balloon breaks!

The apple is unwrapped and the hanky removed by the helper. It's their marked silk!

Remember, the spectator visibly places the silk into the gun, not the magician. You never need to go near the gun again.

Includes: Pop Gun, Transparent Shell, Special Silks, Apple, Balloon Holder and complete instructions/comedy routine, even the napkins, balloons and a Sharpie marker. Everything necessary to present the routine!

Our good friend and fulltime pro Dave Garrity uses this routine all the time. He loves the audience response to it!

Regal Ring Chain

What has more impact than performing a stunning effect with a cherished object?

Fashioned by a commercial jeweler, the Regal Ring Chain is a specially designed prop that enables the performer to secretly introduce a borrowed ring onto a stainless steel neck chain.

Just as magician's wallets are altered to facilitate the insertion of a playing card, the Regal Ring Chain is an elegant accessory that allows the performer to slowly remove a chain from his neck and reveal a vanished ring hanging from its center. Resets in seconds. Delivers a moment they will remember forever.

HOW?

The third release in Rick Haslett's "H" Series, HOW can only be described as a spectator-centric effect. The effect was created so that the spectators can get as close as they want while the magic happens! Bring out an ordinary-looking lip balm. Stand it on end and concentrate. The lip balm wiggles a little bit and then falls to the table. You can even have the spectator stand the lip balm on end. Encourage them to examine it all they want. Before, during or after. They will find nothing. No reset. Repeat it over and over. No threads. No wires. No thumb tips. No static electricity. Just plain magic. $16.00 (10.1651)

First there was Flow, Dan Hauss' ingenious best seller using an innocent bottle of water. This time he's using just the cap! Unscrew the plain white cap from your water bottle and put a coin under the cap. Take a step back from the table, so there's no way you can get near the cap or the coin. Your friend now shakes the cap and definitely hears and feels the coin rattle inside. Without you touching anything, she shakes the cap again and the rattling suddenly stops! Just stunning, empty silence. She looks under the cap. The coin has vanished! The empty cap can be closely examined.

You can then place a glass under the table. "CLINK," and the coin drops through the table into the glass! Or, the vanished coin appears under a second empty cap that's been held by someone else! Dan's ingenious gimmick does the work for you.

You have options!

- Entire rattle/vanish action is done by the spectator. You never touch the cap!
- Perform surrounded.
- Carry the cap in your pocket, or unscrew it from a water bottle.
- Resets in ten seconds The Rattled re-set technology is a joy to behold.
- No switches! Very easy to do. No palming required.

AmaZeRING

Joe Porper's new AmaZeRING will revolutionize the Humber Ring routine. The ease of use with AmaZeRING is astounding; the gimmick opens and closes automatically without any fumbling or looking. It's a great new tool for the working performer.

Three rings are borrowed from the audience and are linked together in a chain. One ring is unlinked and returned, the other two are displayed on a mechanical pencil with one ring hanging below the other. On your command, without touching the rings or going near them with your hands, one ring visibly unlinks from the other and drops into your waiting, cupped hand below!

It can also be used in a ring on/off stick or cord, and other effects, only limited by your imagination.

The first, and simplest routine is called the "Ghost Link and Unlink." This was created originally by Earl Nelson with full-size linking rings, but is easily adapted to the AmaZeRING.

The cleanup/switch routine is easy to do; it is based on Dai Vernon's display of balls in the beginning of his cups & balls routine.

Comes with gimmicked ring and ungimmicked ring with photo-illustrated instructions and DVD with performances and routines by Dean Dill and Joe Porper. $350.00 (10.1644)

No Way Nest Of Boxes

From Tommy James, a super easy-to-load Nest of Boxes and Bags that will blow your audience away! This is one of the strongest routines in Tommy's birthday party act as well as his adult and corporate gigs.

Borrow a ring from a willing spectator.

Ask for a different spectator to join you on stage. State you are going to play the famous "Ring Toss" game. Cover the ring with a handkerchief (supplied) and ask your volunteer to hold the ring through the handkerchief. On the count of three, you will whisk the cloth away and the ring will fly through the air and back onto the spectator's finger in the audience. Instruct the spectator in the audience to hold up their finger.

Explain that sometimes the ring vaporizes in mid-air. If that happens, they will receive a gift in exchange for their ring. Sitting on your table is a gift bag.

Reach in with your empty hand and pull out a decorative rigid gift box with a ribbon tied around it. Show it all around, top and bottom, close-up etc.

Return to the spectator holding the ring under the handkerchief. "One! Two! Three!" Whisk the cloth away. Pretend to follow the invisible ring through the air, but it doesn't land on their finger. It must have vaporized!

"But don't fear, I have a gift for you!" Untie the ribbon on the box and remove the lid.

Inside there is a second box. Remove it, untie the ribbon and remove the lid.

Inside is a third box with a ribbon tied around it.

Inside the third box is a gold bag sealed with a rubber band. Have the spectator open the bag. Inside the gold bag is a purple bag sealed with a rubber band.

The spectator opens the second bag and inside the purple bag is a red bag.

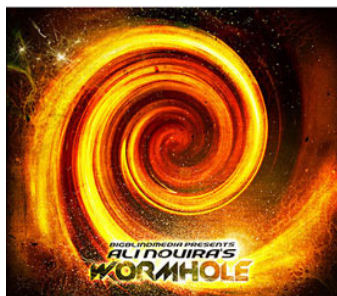

Inside the sealed red bag is the spectators borrowed finger ring! Wow!

The loading of the ring literally takes a split second. The outer box has been deviously gaffed. Once the ring is loaded, the outer box is completely sealed and the box can be shown on all sides including top and bottom. They will see nothing. You receive three high-end rigid cardboard gift boxes, three decorative bags, a ring vanishing hanky, gimmick, supply of rubber bands, tissue paper, full instructions and suggested routine.

You can also use the nested bags in your close up routine without the boxes! All the details have been worked out for you allowing you to totally concentrate on presentation. This is a routine you will use and never leave out of your shows!

Gambler

Looking for an original mentalism routine that you can immediately add to your repertoire? Gambler is the one you need! Gambler has been performed during Julien Labigne's show, 4 Secrets. Now it's time for you to also perform this miracle.

Introduce a box containing several gambling items: a die, 2 casino chips and a deck of 52 playing cards.

First, the spectator makes a choice between the 2 chips. 500 or 1,000. One he gives you, one he keeps for him.

Then, the spectator chooses a number on the die, any number. The die is perfectly genuine, and the spectator really chooses the number he wants.

Finally, you show all the cards and put them one by one face down on the table. The spectator stops you when he wants.

One choice out of 2. One choice out of 6. One choice out of 52.

That makes 624 possibilities to get the right combination. You reveal your prediction, and it perfectly matches all the decisions made by the spectator! Absolutely amazing!

What you get:

DVD - performance and explanation.

All props needed: a die, 2 chips, a real one dollar bill printed on the back, a matchbox from a casino.

A special deck of Bicycle cards specially designed for the routine.

No complicated gimmick, just a great principle that allows you to create a strong piece of mentalism, anytime anywhere!

HMMM

Oh, that clever Rick Haslett. The newest item in his “H” series, HMMM is a terrific effect using only the simplest of props: three playing cards and one rubber ball.

Place the ball on the table. Arrange the three playing cards so they are standing up and surrounding the ball.

Magic, magic, magic. Blow the little house of cards over and the ball has vanished! You can produce it from anywhere you would like!

This easy-to-do effect can be performed sitting or standing. No threads, switches or thumbtips. Only one ball and three cards are used. Both ball and cards can be examined before and after performing

Sign Off

It's time to put your own signature on your magic!

Damien O'Brien and Leon May have come up with an obscenely visual effect!

Sign Off is an eye-popping routine with the visual vanish of a signature that happens right in front of your spectators' eyes, yet looks like a camera trick

A card is selected and signed on the face by your spectator. The card is now held between your spectator's palms.

You select a card for yourself, and sign or initial it on the back.

Now, in full view of the spectator, you visually make your signature vanish.

This really has to be seen to be believed. There is absolutely no cover, the signature just goes. It's so good you will fool even yourself!

Explain that it's impossible to just make it vanish (after all it needs to go somewhere). Point to the card in your spectator's hand. He slowly lifts his hand to see his signature on the face and just wait for the reaction when he finally gets the nerve to turn the card over to see your signature has arrived on the back of his card!

This is a real-world worker. The gimmick is just so cool. The vanish looks incredible. The signature can vanish and reappear at your command and is totally under your control

Included in the box:

An instructional DVD which covers routines, handling tips & step by step details on how to construct additional Sign Off Gimmicks.

2 - Sign Off Gimmick

4 - Custom Printed Sign Off Stickers

Additional supplies so you can construct your own replacement or additional gimmicks

Triangle of Terror

In Keith Fields' book If Ever A Wiz There Was, there is a delightful routine which requires a wooden pool triangle attached to a leash. We are now able to supply the necessary props for this routine.

A cup is placed on the triangle and filled with water. It is then whirled around and around in a vertical circle! You then change direction and whirl it around your head. The water stays in the cup and the audience will be riveted to their seats! A fantastic effect which will keep them talking. Great for school science shows as this is an example of centripetal force in action! It looks very difficult, but is actually very easy to do!

The set is complete and exactly as Keith uses in his shows. All you need to add is a cup of water. If you want to do something really impressive, buy two and have double the fun. $35.00 (60.1754)

Stretching The Truth

A fresh new routine that will completely astound your audience, packs small and plays big, Stretching The Truth is the one for you. It's based on Martin Lewis' Sketch Pad Card Rise, but it is not a card trick! It's an animal trick!

You and an audience member will entertain the crowd with a very funny seven minute long comedy mind reading effect. You will be attempting to draw a picture of the volunteer's freely chosen animal cracker. They will get to eat their chosen crackers. You and the audience seem to be one step ahead of the on-stage spectator. You appear to finish your silly drawing of their animal at the very last second. The audience is very much "in on the gag," but the volunteer is clueless. In the end, you will amaze everyone, as your last drawing visually changes, on paper, into the correct animal. A giraffe, of all things! The drawing is then torn out and handed to the volunteer to keep, with a gasp of astonishment from the audience.

Features of Stretching the Truth:

Uses a real pad of paper that can be found at any art supply store!

The animal crackers are real, and totally edible.

Comes fully scripted and audience tested!

You can make it whatever size fits your act!

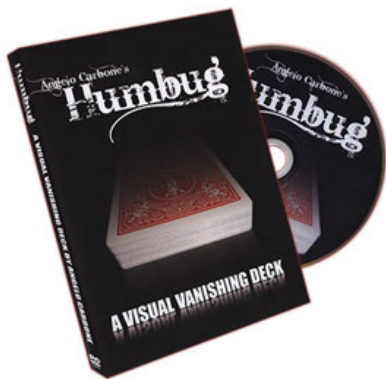

60 minute instructional DVD!

Comes with a Performance Rights Certificate.

Includes cases to carry and protect both the pad and the crackers.

A template for the giraffe and special gimmick are included.

Extremely quick reset, as little as 5 minutes! Saves you time and makes it a joy to perform! $317.50 (60.1751)

Humbug

Brand new from Angelo Carbone!

Vanish a borrowed deck of cards except for the chosen card.

Visually pass a deck through a table.

Cause a selected card to visually rise up the deck while out-jogged.

Perform the classic deck to pocket where the deck in your hands gets smaller as the cards arrive in your pocket one by one.

This amazing gimmick (included) utilizes an optical illusion principle.

Use any Bicycle Poker sized deck. Can be used left or right handed. No Flaps. No Pulls. No Magnets. No Nonsense. $30.00 (30.1602)

And All Will Be Consumed

– Chris Wiehl - A very visual method for the Coin In Bottle effect that allows you to perform the effect under test conditions. Here's an example: Borrow a quarter, have it signed, next have the bottle examined completely and then screw on the cap. At this point, your spectator is aware that it is impossible for you to make their signed quarter appear in the bottle. Yet, in a few seconds, with the signed quarter visible at all times, that is exactly what you do.

Chris Wiehl's exciting new method makes performing the Coin in Bottle possible under test conditions. With the "Consumed" gimmick you can also perform penetrations with markers and many other borrowed items. You will be performing this in no time.

Gimmick included. Easy to master. Quarter can be borrowed and signed Bottle can be borrowed. Uses a new method unlike other coin in bottle effects
No switches (their coin really goes in the bottle).

No hiding their coin in the hand or the cap. Examined before and after.

Perform surrounded. Quick set up.

Impromptu version included.

Pocket Illusion

Display five special cards, each of the faces showing one part of your assistant in an illusion box. You see the parts of your attractive assistant's body: Her face, her midsection, her legs, her feet, etc.

The backs of the cards have a wooden design, so they look like an illusion box.

Openly mix the different parts of the assistant's body, but in a wink they magically show up in the correct order!

After this, all cards may be examined by the audience.

Now, take out five other cards depicting both the front and back of your lovely assistant. Mix up the parts of the body. Despite all of the mixing, the parts of her body will magically reassemble in the correct order from both the front and back views. $25.00 (10.1639)

Cosmic Blaster Jr.

Beam me up, Scotty! Shields Up! Bring out the Cosmic Blasters. The what? The Cosmic Blasters, the neatest flash device going. It looks exactly like a Buck Rogers Space Gun. Complete with electronic trigger. And, when you aim and shoot, out comes a big ball of fire! It only fires out about 4 feet, so you won't light the drapes on fire.

You can also set it to fire 10 to 15 feet.

And, it uses Flash Cotton and Flash Paper, so the flame burns very quickly.

If you're into special effects for your act or want a fun new way to light up your Dove Pan, this is the one for you! Really nice, and priced right.

Cosmic Blaster Jr. requires 1 AAA battery, Flash Cotton and Flash Pads.

Comes with an instructional video CD Rom.

Thanks to Rick Haslett for giving us the exclusive on this fine item, which means you will find it here at Hank Lee's Magic Factory, and nowhere else!

Note: Since this uses real fire, we can only sell it to those over 18 years of age.

Perform absolutely impossible-looking miracles, anytime, anywhere. And, all with everyday objects: a couple of mini chocolate bars.

The possibilities are endless, but listed below are a handful of favorites taught on the DVD.

Sugar Rush includes two custom machined gimmicks, one 30 minute instructional DVD and a few SR Pro Accessories as a complimentary bonus.

Hershey Mini Across - Cleanly and fairly display that you have just two Hershey Minis in your hands. Let's say a Krackel and a Hershey's Dark. Ask your spectator to name one of them. For example, the Hershey's Dark. Close your fingers around the two bars. With absolutely no moves, the Hershey's Dark vanishes from your hand and instantly appears in your other hand.

Candy Thru Mug/Table/Tablecloth - So simple. Yet, so utterly impossible. With rolled up sleeves, completely empty hands and absolutely nothing more than a Krackel, a Mr. Goodbar and an empty coffee cup you're ready to perform miracles.

Ziplock Penetration - A combination of principles that makes for pure visual magic with apparently no explanation. Show a clear, Ziplock bag filled with Mini Mr. Goodbars nothing else. Pick up 3 other candies and explain that you're going to make your favorite candy, say the Krackel, magically penetrate through the baggie. Proceed to knead it right through the plastic! Remove the Krackel while showing it truly is in the bag with the Goodbars! The spectators will immediately reach for the bag. Let them, as the bag and all the candies inside are 100% examinable. You've got absolutely nothing to hide.

Flash Appearing Birthday Ban-

From our pal Tommy James, it's the perfect way to open your birthday party magic show! A 20th Century production for the 21st Century! Includes two 18" silks and a Happy Birthday Banner, 30" long by 8" high. Show two 18" silks, a red and a blue.

"Boys and girls, the magic words for today will not be the regular magic words like Abracadabra or Alakazam! I am going to spell out the magic words using these two handkerchiefs."

"A yellow one [the magician holds up the blue] and a green one! [hold up the red]"

The kids will quickly tell you that you got the colors wrong!

"Oh I'm sorry, a green one [hold up the blue] and a yellow one! [Hold up the red]"

The kids will let you know they are red and blue.

"Oh I'm terribly sorry. A blue one [hold up the red] and a red one! [hold up the blue]"

The kids will be screaming that you are wrong again!

Finally hold up the red one and say, "This one is red?" [Kids will shout YES!]

Hold up the blue one and say, "What color is this one?" (Kids will shout blue, but you pretend they just booed you.)

"Hey! That was rude! Oh! Blue! Yes of course! I thought you booed me! Now I will tie these two handkerchiefs into a knot."

Finish tying the two silks together, then put the ends into your coat pocket, a glass or if you're like Tommy James, into your mouth!

Quickly pull the silks apart and a colorful banner 30" long by 8" high appears between the two silks that says: HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

"The magic words for the show are Happy Birthday [insert child's name] !"

Use the magic words throughout the show and score some brownie points with the Mom and Dad! You can use the routine as outlined or make the banner appear using a vanishing cane. $40.00 (60.1742)
